Resource Guide

These groups can be contacted for further training and neighborhood resource opportunities.

Brightside, Inc.

Brightside is uniting people in clean and green activities to beautify the city and foster community pride. Brightside is unique because it functions as a public/private partnership, merging the resources of the Metro government with those of private citizens. Being both a 501(c)3 and a government agency this means that Metro government covers administrative expenses and all programs are run entirely on privately donated dollars. Brightside has many different beautification programs that non-profit organizations can take part in, such as Neighborhood Naturescape Grants, Beautiful Business, flower shower and community gardens. Brightside also has anti-litter prevention programs such as, neighborhood cleanups, adopt a mile program and reporting a litterer. Brightside also works to engage the community's youth with programs like eco-drama and environmental youth summit. Brightside has been keeping Louisville clean and green now for over 22 years! For more information, call (502) 574-2613 or visit www.louisvilleky.gov/brightside.

Center for Neighborhoods

The Center for Neighborhoods supports and empowers neighborhoods to create stronger and more vital communities. We envision a greater Louisville community with caring and empowered people, making and renewing neighborhoods that are strong and vital. The Center for Neighborhoods cultivates grassroots leadership, provides leadership education, partners with neighborhoods in community planning efforts, facilitates civic dialogue amongst stakeholders, and actively participates in neighborhood-based development and improvement projects. Center for Neighborhoods, formerly the Louisville Community Design Center, has pursued its mission for over 30 years. For more information, call (502) 589-0343 or visit www.centerforneighborhoods.org.

Center for Nonprofit Excellence

The Center for Nonprofit Excellence (CNPE) is a nonprofit support management organization dedicated to being a resource for the success of the nonprofit sector in the Greater Louisville and Southern Indiana metro area. CNPE pledges to do its best to understand the needs of non-profit groups and facilitate access to valuable resources. A variety of educational opportunities are offered. Also featured are trends in non-profit organizations, best practices and ways to access funding sources. For more information, call (502) 315-2673 or visit www.cnpe.org.

Community Foundation of Louisville

The Community Foundation of Louisville is a publicly supported charity with assets of $180 million and a growing collection of more than 1,000 separate charitable funds given by local citizens and organizations to improve the quality of life in the Louisville area, both now and for future generations. Since 1997, the Community Grants Program has awarded more than $2.6 million to more than 150 projects to prevent poverty by helping children and youth become prepared to achieve economic self-sufficiency. These grants support programs and projects that “help children help themselves” through educational, leadership, mentoring, recreational and cultural activities. Grants were awarded to projects in 16 targeted neighborhoods. For more information, visit www.cflouisville.org or contact (502) 585-4649.

Just Solutions

Just Solutions is a not-for-profit community mediation center, whose mission is to promote non-violent ways of dealing with conflict, managing change and building community. Just Solutions services include consultation, coaching, strategic planning, facilitation and mediation. Through a contract with the Louisville Metro Department of Neighborhoods, they can work with neighbors who are having a dispute or with a neighborhood, homeowner or condo association that needs assistance. For a referral, contact the Department of Neighborhoods at (502) 574-3380 or Just Solutions at (502) 581-1961. To learn more about training and services visit www.just-solutions.org or email office@just-solutions.org.

Leadership Louisville / Focus Louisville

The Leadership Louisville Center is a nonprofit, member-oriented resource dedicated to developing a diverse group of leaders who serve as catalysts for a stronger community. In 1979 Leadership Louisville was founded “to foster interest in and promote educational, civic and social service activities.” The program was started to ensure that Louisville’s future leaders would be knowledgeable about community issues, well-networked and passionate about the success of the community. It has a mission of developing a diverse group of leaders to serve as catalysts for a stronger community. For more information, call (502) 561-0458 or visit www.leadershiplouisville.org.

Legal Aid Society

The mission of the Legal Aid Society is to ensure equal justice for all by providing free legal assistance to low-income individuals in the Louisville Metro area and fourteen surrounding counties. Under a contract with the Louisville Metro Department of Neighborhoods, Legal Aid’s Community Development Program offers free legal assistance to neighborhood associations, with priority to those groups serving the low-income community. Assistance includes preparation of articles of incorporation, by-laws and applications for tax exemption and other organizational matters. Contact the Department for Neighborhoods at (502) 574-3380 for a referral or contact Legal Aid’s intake department at (502) 584-1254.

Louisville Free Public Library

The Louisville Free Public Library offers a wide range of resources free to the public. This includes books and periodicals as well as computer and internet access. The overriding goal of the reference and information function of the Louisville Free Public Library is to provide accurately, efficiently, and pleasantly, the assistance and information products that are required and requested by users, whether in person, by telephone, through our website, or in writing. For more information contact the Main Library at (502) 574-1611 or visit www.lfpl.org.

Louisville Metro Police Department Neighborhood Watch

Neighborhood Watch is a police-community partnership to prevent crime. LMPD teaches techniques to reduce the risk of being a victim of crime. Learn the importance of recognizing suspicious activities and how to report them. Neighborhood Watches allow neighbors to get to know each other and their routines so suspicious activity can be recognized. It also forms a cohesive group of citizens that are better prepared to address issues of concern to the entire community. For information, contact Renee Stigall at (502) 367-6716 or Patsy.Stigall@lmpd.louisvilleky.gov or www.nationaltownwatch.org/nno/about.html.

Making Connections Louisville

Making Connections Louisville has a simple philosophy, "Children do well when families do well and families do well when they live in supportive neighborhoods." Making Connections Louisville is a partnership of local leaders, residents, faith-based organizations, government, schools and others working to improve connections to economic opportunity, social networks and effective services to strengthen families and neighborhoods. Making Connections Louisville partners with local organizations to provide resident engagement, leadership development, research, data and information, co-investment, seed grants and technical assistance. They are working in Smoketown, Shelby Park, Phoenix Hill and California. For information, call (502) 583-1426 or visit www.makechangetogether.org

MetroCall

MetroCall 311 is a Customer Service Contact Center - a centralized center where citizens can register concerns, request services, offer suggestions or ask questions about Metro government. MetroCall 311 is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. By using MetroCall 311, citizens can eliminate the frustration and confusion involved with determining which department handles their concern. Calls are no longer transferred to various departments for citizens to repeat their concerns over and over. Citizens can access MetroCall 311 by phone at 311 or (502) 574-5000, by e-mail at metrocall@louisvilleky.gov or live chat on the Internet at www.louisvilleky.gov/metrocall. Courteous and knowledgeable assistance is available for the deaf and disabled through use of a TDD system (Telecommunications for the Deaf and Disabled) by dialing (502) 574-4091.

MetroFest Calendar

Louisville loves to celebrate. To support those efforts, the MetroFest Calendar is published to showcase outdoor events and help attract residents and visitors to the many unique festivals held each year across our community. The calendar is also available online and contains information about festivals and events in the regional Louisville Metro area. You can find updates of approved events posted to the website the first of each month. The on-line calendar is a resource to showcase a variety of events in the regional Louisville Metro area including; arts and cultural events, conventions, conferences, college sports, neighborhood and church picnics, national, religious, etc. If you would like more information go to www.louisvilleky.gov/communityrelations.

Metro United Way

Metro United Way believes in helping people improve their neighborhoods by building skills to identify community assets and needs so that residents can improve the quality of life in their communities. Metro United Way's funding arm, Strengthening Neighborhoods, realizes this vision through its Vital Neighborhoods initiative. Since 1999, the Vital Neighborhoods team of community volunteers has invested more than $2 million to support leadership development training, neighborhood organizing, strategic planning and community building research and development. For more information, call (502) 292-6127 or visit www.metrounitedway.org/CommunitySolutions/Neighborhoods.cfm.

New Directions Housing Corporation

New Directions Housing Corporation develops and maintains affordable housing and vital communities in partnership with neighborhoods and other stakeholders. New Directions has a simple purpose. We help people find, secure, and maintain their homes. To do this, we meet complex, challenging community problems, then we work with partners to overcome them. Problems like homelessness, poverty, crime, violence and urban blight can ensnare families, then whole neighborhoods. Solutions demand an entire community's commitment to each neighborhood, each family and every child. We ask everyone to find a way to make that commitment. Volunteers, donors and investors work through New Directions in many ways. Together, we build and preserve housing. We work with struggling families to convey marketable skills and capacities for increased independence. We marshal every known resource and recruit extraordinary talent to channel solutions directly to families and neighborhoods in need. For more information, call (502) 589-2272 or visit www.ndhc.org.

National Neighborhood Day

National Neighborhood Day is celebrated in neighborhoods across the country on the second Sunday of September. It was established to recognize and reinforce the relationships that are the fabric of our communities. It is a day of simple gatherings to bring neighbors together and to help enhance neighborhood connections. This is a way to inspire, build and sustain neighborhood relationships that provide the foundation for civic action and the building of stronger, more caring and effective communities. For more information, visit http://www.neighborhoodday.org/index_flash.asp.

Office for International Affairs

The Office for International Affairs (OIA) strives to create a multicultural community recognized for its climate of support and quality of life for all residents. OIA serves as a central point of contact for the community, connecting new residents to city government and community partners, providing information and education on international issues and resources, and assisting internationals to achieve full and meaningful participation in and contribution to community life. For more information on the Office for International Affairs please call (502) 574-4774 or visit www.louisvilleky.gov/International.

Office of Youth Development

The Office of Youth Development is focused on providing positive development for Louisville Metro youth and their families! Opportunities include educational, social and after-school programs, life skills training, youth employment skills training, job opportunities, and special activities that promote strong families and brighter futures for young people. Youth initiatives include Studio 2000 Arts Programs; Neighborhood Youth Boards (NYB); Mayor's Youth Cabinet; Young Ladies Like Us II; and the Teen Youth Program of Encouragement (TYPE). Other initiatives include evaluating youth-based programs, services and maintain listings of youth services, referrals and resources. For more information on the Office of Youth Development and its programs please call Metro Call at 311 or 574-5000 or email at www.louisvilleky.gov/officeofyouthdevelopment.
